

Class Eight/Nine

Friday 5th December 2014.

Project

Next week we would like to hear the name of the piece of music you have chosen for your project.

As a result of our involvement in the BBC 10 Pieces Project, we'd like you all to complete a musical project next. Your project will be to think of a piece of music that inspires you and to come up with a presentation based on it. If you play an instrument or sing, it could be that you perform the piece for your classmates. Perhaps you could come up with a dance, a poem or a piece of artwork based on your musical piece? Maybe you could bring in a CD of your chosen piece and talk about why it is special to you?

We will be sharing your musical presentations during the week beginning Monday 15th December.

Spelling

Next week we will be testing you on your homophones. Remember to practice them for a few minutes every day rather than leaving them all for Wednesday night.

English

Next week we will be writing a newspaper article. Can you think of any Egyptian themed headlines?

Maths

Next week in maths we will look at reflection and rotation. Can you draw some objects in your house that have a line of symmetry?

Other Notes

Next week we will be watching the nativity dress rehearsal.

Don't forget the Table Tennis Tournament starts from Monday. Please ensure you have looked at the fixtures placed outside your classroom to know when your first match is. Best of luck everyone!
