

Class Eight/Nine

Friday 23rd January 2015

Project

Well done your homework books look lovely!

The Vikings were great storytellers and loved nothing better than to hear about the great deeds of their gods and heroes. For your next homework project, we would like you to devise your own adventure saga. It could involve made-up characters or historical figures you have already learnt about; it could involve a quest, a great battle or explain how something came to be (for example, a mountain); or, it could be a saga in which you are the hero. Whatever you decide to do, though, it needs to entertain the Viking warriors who will listen to it! You could choose to share your ideas in a number of ways: an extended piece of writing; a cartoon strip; a picture showing an event from your story; or, you could use your drama skills to perform (and maybe even record) a spoken story. We will be sharing some Viking sagas in class to inspire you.

You have until Thursday 5th February to complete this project.

Spellings

Remember to complete your spelling homework.

By next Thursday (29th January) you need to write ten words including the letters ei or ie. Can you explain the rule and list some exceptions?

Extension

If you would like to you could put your words into a crossword or word search. Just ask if you would like some squared paper to help with this.

Maths

Next week we will continue to work on ratio and proportion and look at different number patterns.

English

Next week we start looking at life stories. Whose life story would you like to read and why?

Other Notes

The table tennis semi-finals will be held in the gym on Thursday lunchtime.
