

Class 1 newsletter

13th March 2015

Chick Update...

As of today we now have 3 baby chicks and 1 chick who is just peeping through.

We have absolutely loved going upstairs to look at the progress of our eggs and chicks. Lots of the children even saw the first cracks appearing in the eggs! Thank you so much to all the people who have got involved and taken the time to take the children upstairs before or after school. They have been so interested to find out more about chicks, and we will be doing this next week.

Miss Land told us we could name one of the chicks (the yellow one), we thought of lots of great names but decided on Daffodil!

Tricky Words—We have sent home a set of tricky words for the children to use when writing at home.

Exploring Materials

Our robot making area has been very popular in class. Lots of the children are really interested in robots so we thought it would be nice for them to make their own.

We are thinking about the properties of metal and what it is used to make.

Can you name 5 things that are made of metal?

Show and Tell

Next week is the turn of the blue group—please have a look on the board outside class 1 to check which children are in the group.

The theme for the week is 'A memory from a holiday' you could bring in a photograph, souvenir or postcard or even just a memory you would like to share.

What are we doing next week..?

Our next traditional tale is Hansel and Gretel—we will be retelling the story in our witches cottage. Do you know the story already?

In maths we are still looking closely at properties of shapes.

We are also thinking about adding and taking away—have a practise at home.

MATHS CHALLENGE!

Our homework from this week will be a maths challenge. Have a look in your red homework book for the information.

Week beginning 16th March...

Monday: Please remember to bring your library book to change. Travelling Ted should return to school today and tell us all about his weekend away.

Wednesday: PE kit. Show and Tell

Thursday: Homework books collected in today

Friday: Science enrichment day. Stay and play
Please remember to bring your book bag into school and keep it in your drawer.