

Class 3 newsletter

12th February 2016

The end of half term!

We've had a fantastic half term in Class 3 and have specifically enjoyed learning all about China. Hopefully the children will come back with the same attitude towards their work that they have left with!

Homework

Spellings are going out today and will have a focus on the 'ue' phoneme. Can you think of any words that contain this sound?

Next Week (after half term)

English - we will be looking at writing information texts.

Maths - we will be looking at number in greater depth.

Wednesday - spellings and homework books in.

Thursday - flapjack day so bring 50p if you want one!

Show and tell: Blue group

Bring your reading record every day!

What have we done this week?

Monday saw the last session of Exciting Writing before the end of half term and allowed the children to show off all of their knowledge that they have learnt about China as the topic comes to a close at the end of this week. I hope you have enjoyed this topic as much as I have and are looking forward to the new one next half term. I wonder...what might it be?

The children have been working very hard on using different methods to help them multiply single digit numbers together. Keep practising, and working on, your times tables to improve your maths skill even more!

On Wednesday, as a class, we wrote a shape poem about a blue bouncy ball and the children used some fantastic similes to help describe it.

On Thursday we wrote our own acrostic poems using our names as a stimulus.
