MESSAGE FROM MISS SAWYER

As I write this, the children are having their World Book Day celebrations in class. It's great to see them all dressed up or showing off their props and favourite books. They are looking forward to the book swap after school which we hope will be a great success. Thank you so much to the parents who have brought in extra books just in case some children didn't have a book to swap - that was really kind!

This week our Pupil Parliament (Drew and Heath - who work with other children across the Trust) introduced their idea to the rest of the school. This is to decorate the toilet blocks so that each has a different theme. They are working with different classes (and the help of an artist) to design and decorate each toilet block in the school. Work has already begun in the Y3/4 boys' toilets. The theme for them is Dr Suess. Every child from Lime and Maroon had the chance to paint a flower and to design or paint part of the wall. The idea is to make children feel more comfortable about going to the toilet to help improve their mental health. This was completely the idea of the children and they have led the whole thing. We can't wait to see how this unfolds...

Golden Table

This week saw the return of the Golden Table at the request of the School Council. Each week the Midday Supervisors choose 8 children who have shown exceptional behaviour and manners at lunchtime.
