A MESSAGE FROM MISS SAWYER

It has been a wonderfully productive week at Park Grove, and I wanted to take a moment to share a highlight with you all.

If you've noticed your child taking a little extra care with their letters lately, there's a good reason! We have been implementing our new handwriting policy across the school, and the results have been nothing short of transformative.

The difference in the children's books since we started has been excellent. From the neatness of their joins to the pride they are taking in the presentation of their work, the progress is clear. It is a testament to their hard work and focus.

To celebrate these achievements, we have had a focus on this in our good work assemblies. It has been a joy to see children from every year group stand up and showcase what they've been working on.

A Quick Tip for Home: If your child wants to show off their new skills, why not ask them to write the shopping list or a quick thank-you note this weekend? They are very excited to show you what they can do!

WORLD BOOK DAY

World Book Day at Park Grove was a fantastic success, filled with a genuine sense of excitement for reading. The school was buzzing as students shared their favorite stories and spent time exploring books together.

While the costumes added a fun touch, the real highlight was seeing everyone so engaged with literature and eager to discuss the characters they love. It was a great day that really highlighted the school's community spirit and a shared appreciation for a good story.
